IBS Treatment Center Labs Wins Excellence Award

US BioTek, the lab used by the IBS Treatment Center to test for food allergies, has received a national Excellence Award for Quality Laboratory Services. The award was granted by COLA, a national health care accreditation organization.

The award signifies US BioTek has displayed a commitment to quality in performing patient testing, service to professional health care providers and overall laboratory practices. According to Dr. Mary Frank, chair on the COLA board of directors, at the time of an on-site survey performed by COLA the recipients of the Laboratory Excellence Award were found to be compliant to all essential and required criteria. The selected laboratories also demonstrated successful proficiency testing and have had no valid complaints.

US BioTek's continued dedication to provide quality service to their professional clientele and care to their patients have earned them this prestigious award as well as accreditation from COLA, a trusted and federal government approved health care organization.

Dr. Wangen, the IBS Treatment Center, and the Center for Food Allergies are proud to work with US BioTek and congratulate them on their commendation.

•GIG and IBS Support Group Tuesday, August 7, 2007

Come to our support group and get the latest on Gluten Intolerance and IBS! Make friends who know what you've been through and share what you've learned too!

Special guest

Anna, the head chef of Breads from Anna™ will be here.

Check out Anna's website at:

www.glutenevolution.com.

She will be bringing samples of her excellent breads. Anna has breads that are gluten, dairy, soy, sugar, and rice free – but full of rich flavor. Come and check them out. Dr. Wangen will also be on hand to answer questions about gluten intolerance, IBS, and food allergies. Call our office if you need directions or if you want to let us know you are coming (so Anna can bring enough for everyone!).
